Summary

I am a junior web developer and a final-year B.Tech student specialising in Electronics and Communication Engineering. With a solid foundation in Python, basic knowledge of C and Java, I am currently honing my skills in web development, focusing on HTML, CSS, and JavaScript. I have created an online calculator, a login page, and a Spotify frontend, showcasing a range of technical abilities. Many projects are currently under development. Additionally, I am a passionate pencil artist, which enhances my creativity and attention to detail.
